

Packard
1910 CARS

Only a few cars still available. Place your order at once.
THE VON HAMM-YOUNG CO., LTD
Agents

Masks Masks

ALL KINDS
Single or by the Thousand
Wall, Nichols Co., Ltd.
King Street

AUTOS

INDEPENDENT AUTO STAND,
King and Bishop Streets. Phone 609

SPERRY'S
Drifted Snow
FLOUR
30 YEARS THE STANDARD.

LEWIS & CO., LTD
PHONE 240.

LENHARDT'S CHOCOLATES.

Fresh shipment just received by

Henry May & Company, Ltd.
PHONE 22.

RAMBLER and REGAL
AUTOMOBILES

H. A. WILDER - - - Agent

RING UP
Levy's

For Groceries Phone 76

The Christmas Goods

at JANE LISHMAN MORE'S, in the Harrison building, are unusually attractive.

PAPER
FOR ALL PURPOSES.

American - Hawaiian Paper and Supply Co., Ltd.
TELEPHONE 410.

CALL BELLS.

Installed in private dwellings or stores.

UNION ELECTRIC CO.

I. C. CARTER, Prop.,
Beretania near King street.

HAWAIIAN SOUVENIRS
Fans, Baskets,
Mats, Shells, Hats,
Brasses,
Teco Pottery, Postcard Projectors,
Hawaii & South
Seas Curio Co.,
Young Building,
Next to Cable Office

LATEST STORY OF PRINCESS ALICE

German Authoress Tells How She Shocked Royal Household
of Korea.

BERLIN, November 16.—Fraulein Emma Kroeber, a German woman, who was the chief mistress of ceremonies at the court of the Emperor of Korea in 1905, appears as the author of a book, published here today, which contains sections dealing with the visit of the then Miss Alice Roosevelt to Korea in that year. In her account of the official reception to Miss Roosevelt, she says:

"Learning that the Roosevelt party had been invited to the court of the Mikado, the Korean emperor hastened to extend the hospitality of his modest establishment to the distinguished American travelers. Acceptance of His Majesty's invitation came with such astonishing promptness that the court was in a dilemma how to get a suitable welcome ready in time.

"The emperor decided to bestow upon the daughter of the President of the United States the highest honor at his command, namely, reception at a graveside of his consort, the empress. An imposing suite of dignitaries and dunkeys were accordingly dispatched to the grave in a picturesque and secluded spot a mile outside Seoul, with utensils for a state banquet.

"Shortly after the suite arrival a tornado of dust burst upon us, out of which a cavalcade of equestrians emerged. At their head rode a dashing young horsewoman, clad in a scarlet riding habit, beneath the lower extremities of which peeped tight-fitting red riding breeches, stuck into glittering boots. In her hand she brandished a riding whip; in her mouth was a cigar.

"It was Miss Alice Roosevelt. We were flabbergasted. We had expected a different sort of apparition. Everybody was bowing and scraping, in the most approved Korean court fashion, but the rough rider's daughter seemed to think it all a joke.

"As the mistress of ceremonies, I stammered out a few words of greetings and the guest of honor mumbled a word of thanks, but nothing more. She was mainly interested in the colossal figures of gods and the mammoth stone images of animals, which hold watch over the graves of the departed members of the Korean dynasty.

"Spying a stone elephant, which seemed particularly to strike her fancy, Alice hurled herself off her horse, and in a flash was astride the elephant, shouting to Mr. Longworth to snapshot her. Our suite was paralyzed with horror and astonishment. Such a sacrilegious scene at so holy a spot was without parallel in Korean history. It required indeed 'American ways' to produce it.

"It was a critical moment. The suspense was relieved only by the passing of tea and other refreshments. Alice remained oblivious to what was going on around her. Not a word of thanks for her reception was forthcoming. She chatted casually with the wife of the American minister, Mrs. Morgan, and partook bravely of the champagne and other delicacies.

Suddenly she gave orders for the saddling of her horse, and galloped away with her male escorts like a Buffalo Bill."

WATER A HUMAN PANACEA.

A noted physician talking the other day of the improvements which had come in modern medicine, commented on the reduction of the number of drugs used by the medical profession generally, saying that as a young doctor he had started out with a hundred or more drugs which he prescribed regularly, but after 30 years had come down to using only a dozen, and some of these only occasionally.

The question was asked of him if he was obliged to confine himself to a half dozen remedial agents which he would choose as applicable to the largest number of conditions. Without hesitation he replied that if human kind had every remedy taken away except pure water, with intelligent use, a great deal could be done, as water comes nearer than any one thing to a universal remedy.

Seventy-five per cent of the human system is composed of water; the tissues of the body demand and respond to it, and the commonest failing of humanity is to neglect to take enough water into the system. The muscles, cartilage, tendons and to a great extent the bones are dependent on water to preserve their elasticity and pliability. The circulatory system is dependent on it to carry various nutritive elements to the tissues. It dilutes the blood and temporarily increases its supply; it acts as a solvent to waste material, reducing it to a condition in which it can be eliminated. It promotes greater freedom for activity in the vital organs by removing obstructions and facilitating the work of destruction of waste matter.

As a memorial to Sir George Williams, founder of the Young Men's Christian Association, a $750,000 building will be erected in London. Young Men's Christian Associations all over the world are expected to contribute toward this building.

An attempt was made by the Mayor and the superintendents of several of the Sunday schools at Bellefontaine, Ohio, to have a series of lectures on diseases due to vice delivered before the public school children of that city, but the attendance fell off so perceptibly that the project was abandoned.

The Rev. Dr. Wallace M. Short of Kansas City in order that he might study the liquor question and because he is opposed to prohibition has joined the Bartenders' Union, and so far as known is the only minister in the world who holds membership in this or a like society.

Books for Christmas In Great Assortment

Hundreds of book customers have been in the store during the past week picking up the choice things in gift books. We have dainty little volumes of the best classics that are inexpensive and yet so attractive that they will make the most acceptable of presents.

Also many handsome books, single and in sets.

Books for Children

A splendid collection of picture and story books for the little folks. They are going fast. Don't delay making your selection.

BROWN & LYON CO., Ltd.

Alexander Young Building

HONOLULU PHOTO SUPPLY CO. Everything Photographic
FORT STREET

ANNOUNCEMENT

WE beg to advise the public that with the remodelling of our establishment we are in position to give special attention to the family trade.

W. C. PEACOCK & CO., LTD.

THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

Telephone 4.

SPECIAL NOTICE:

All orders, when requested, will be delivered free of charge, in sealed packages, by the Territorial Messenger Service without extra charge.

MAIL AND TELEPHONE ORDERS RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION.